

Danielle Johnson

Registered Representative

A native Memphian, Danielle began her career in the financial services industry while attending college. She began working in banking firms. She had been in banking for six years when she decided to pursue her insurance and securities licensing. An alumnus of Kirby High School and the University of Memphis she is deeply rooted in the Memphis community.

Danielle and her husband are the proud parents of two boys, who motivate her commitment to increase educational benefits within the city. Danielle has been working with public and private school employees in the Memphis area since 2007. The focus of her efforts has been to assist school employees in preparing financially for their future retirement.

Danielle is an active member of Volunteer Memphis which sponsors major charitable events throughout the year. She is also an active member of Junior Achievement which focuses on teaching students financial lessons and skills. In addition she has sponsored seminars and workshops on life and disability income insurance, as well as retirement funding. She has a passion for public speaking and loves to educate anyone who is willing to learn.

As economic conditions continue to change and life events shape our decisions, Danielle works to help clients maintain a long-range focus by offering financial products that are relevant to their individual needs and goals. She also offers flexibility to meet those changing future needs. Through building a foundation of long lasting relationships her patient, steady pace, and accountability for results make sure that goals are properly addressed and that her clients are properly educated on the products set in place.
